CAREONE LTAC HOSPITAL’S VENTILATOR WEANING PROGRAM

The CareOne LTAC Hospitals are ventilator weaning hospitals, not long term ventilator units! A long term ventilator unit is a sub-acute facility where a patient is admitted as a resident to live their life on a ventilator. The CareOne LTAC Hospitals are where patients are admitted to be weaned off a ventilator and to have the opportunity to breathe on their own once again. Weaning a patient from a ventilator isn’t just about the lungs; it’s about the entire mind and body. This weaning process requires a skillful combination of proven protocols, reliable and state of the art technology, and teamwork between respiratory therapists and physicians. Our collaborative multi-disciplinary approach combines the efforts of nursing, respiratory, nutrition, and rehab therapies to produce the highest probability of weaning from the ventilator. The well respected, board certified pulmonologists that are credentialed at the CareOne LTAC Hospitals work hand in hand with our experienced respiratory therapists daily to deliver the best ventilator weaning outcomes in the tri state area.

Our end goal is simple: To restore full breathing function to the patient whenever possible.
